PERSONAL PROFILE

Dr. Yifu Ou is currently an EU-funded Marie Curie Fellow at Heriot-Watt University and serves as the Associate Editor of All Earth (SCI-indexed journal). His research focuses on geographic data science, urban geography, regional planning, and environmental sustainability. His work examines how infrastructure investment, environmental change, and urban development shape human mobility, accessibility, and environmental outcomes across cities and regions. He uses GIS, econometric methods, machine learning, and input-output analysis to provide policy-relevant evidence in supporting sustainable urban and regional planning. His research has been published in leading international journals, including Land Use Policy, and Sustainable Cities and Society.

Alongside his research, he has experience teaching geographic data science, GIS, quantitative methods, urban studies, and regional planning at undergraduate level through lectures, tutorials, assessment, and academic support. His teaching is research-led and seeks to foster an inclusive and supportive learning environment where students can develop critical thinking, analytical skills, and practical experience in addressing contemporary urban and environmental challenges.
